Clarifying Reporting Titles Using NCES Labeling

- National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) provides guidelines for tabular information to display information in a concise and orderly manner, so that users can accurately interpret the data.
- What are table titles?
 - “Titles are catalogs of content and guides for ready reference. They should tell what, how classified, where, and when.” (NCES)
- Parts of a title:
 - What: Basic content and general limits of the group or subgroup that are shown in the table (e.g., enrollments in postsecondary institutions).
 - How classified: How the universe data are classified and cross-classified (e.g., by control of institution, age and sex of student, geographic region, and state).
 - Where: Area or space segment, such as political division, geographic area, or other coverage designation if necessary for clarity (e.g., by country, by states, or, perhaps, geographic regions).
 - When: Time reference (e.g., 2000; September 1999; academic year 1998-99; various years, 1950-90, etc.)
- More information about the NCES statistical labeling standards can be found here: <https://nces.ed.gov/statprog/2002/appendixc.asp>

The screenshot shows the IDAHO Score Reports website. The header includes the IDAHO logo and navigation links for Score Reports, Reports & Files, and a search bar. Below the header, a message states: "Now using Scores for students who were mine of the end of the school administration".

AIR Ways Reporting

Access to the Assessment Reports available in AIR Ways Reporting depends on your user role in TIDE. All users may access the Student Portfolio Report.

- Teachers can access the Teacher Assessment Report and Student Assessment Report.
- School-level users can access the School Assessment Report, Roster Assessment Report, and Student Assessment Report.
- District-level users can access the District Assessment Report, School Assessment Report, Roster Assessment Report, and Student Assessment Report.

Reports in AIR Ways display data only for your associated students. The students associated with you depend on your user role:

- New this year, Teachers will only view data for students within their rosters.

About the Teacher Assessment Report

The Teacher Assessment Report consists of the Performance by Roster table

The Performance by Roster table of the Teacher Assessment Report displays a row of data for each of a teacher's "rosters" that completed the given assessment.

If a student who completed the assessment is not associated with any rosters, that student's test data will appear in a row for Students Not in Any Roster.

About the Teacher Assessment Report

The Teacher Assessment Report also consists of the Performance by Student table

The Performance by Student table of the Teacher Assessment Report displays a row of data for each of a teacher's "students" who completed the given assessment.

The Performance by Student table is similar to the Roster Assessment Report accessed from the School Assessment Report by clicking next to a roster name. However, the Roster Assessment Report displays data only for a single roster.
